

CLASS 150, PURSES, WALLETS, AND PROTECTIVE COVERS

SECTION I - CLASS DEFINITION

This is the generic class for receptacles which are used to carry money, credit cards, or items of identification on the person. This is the residual class for protective covers for articles.

A protective cover for this class is: (a) made of flaccid material, (b) supported by the article it covers, (c) configured to cover a specific article, and (d) removed before the article is used.

A protective cover may be secured and carried by an article while the article is being transported, but does not function to carry or support the article, as would an article carrier or receptacle. Rather, it functions to protect the covered article from its external environment, or to protect the environment from the article. See Lines with Other Classes, below, for similar structures made of flaccid material.

Most protective covers are classified in the same class as the article to be covered. (See Subclass References to This Class, below.)

SECTION II - LINES WITH OTHER CLASSES AND WITHIN THIS CLASS

See the line notes to Class 52, Static Structures (e.g., Buildings), Class 135, Tent, Canopy, Umbrella, or Cane, Class 229, Envelopes, Wrappers, and Paperboard Boxes, Class 383, Flexible Bags, and Class 428, Stock Material and Miscellaneous Articles for structures made of flaccid material that are similar to the articles of this class.

The purses, handbags and wallets of this class (150) are distinguished from the suitcases and briefcases of Class 190 by both (1) the type of personal items they normally carry (e.g., money, credit cards, identification items versus clothes, books, papers) and (2) their proximity to the person (e.g., kept on or near the person versus left in the hotel or office room).

Class 206, Special Receptacle or Package, is the residual class for a packet, compact or case carried on the person of a user (e.g., a pocket carried receptacle). Class 206 is also the residual class for a receptacle which includes claimed specific retainer structure for contents. Class 206 further provides for claimed disclosure of contents in a receptacle.

Class 383, Flexible Bags, is the residual class for a receptacle of general utility made of flaccid or flexible material.

An alphabetical index for Flaccid Protective Covers (by article to be covered) is shown below. For numerical references to specific subject matter, see References to Other Classes, below. Additionally see Subclass References to the Current Class, below.

SUBCLASSES

100 PURSE OR HANDBAG TYPE:

This subclass is indented under the class definition. Subject matter comprising a receptacle which is configured to be carried by a shoulder strap or held in the hand.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:

131+, for subject matter under the class definition which is of such a size that it can be carried in a person's pocket or purse.

101 With means to deter theft of contents (e.g., puzzling closure or secret compartment):

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes (1) closure structure which is intended to baffle an unauthorized individual to preclude him from opening it or (2) structure which precludes an unauthorized individual from discovering a content item.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 120 for hand luggage having means to prevent inadvertent or unauthorized opening of the luggage.
- 383, Flexible Bags, subclass 5 for a flexible bag having means to indicate tampering.

102 Theft or loss resistant:

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter wherein means are provided to prevent or inhibit the receptacle from being separated from the person of a user.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:

- 134, for similar subject matter combined with a wallet or billfold.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 24, Buckles, Buttons, Clasps, etc., subclass 3.1 for article retaining means, per se.
- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 101 for similar subject matter combined with suitcase, briefcase, etc.
- 224, Package and Article Carriers, particularly subclasses 202+, 217-222, 229, 252, and 253 for wrist wallets money belts, wallet holsters, and other body attached receptacles. This Class, 150, includes purses having a shoulder strap or hand grip.

103 Changeable decorative appearance (e.g., color, etc.):

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes means for altering its outwardly visible ornamental wall features.

104 Removable element:

This subclass is indented under subclass 103. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes a part which may be dissociated (disunited) therefrom and replaced by the different part or reversed and reassociated (reunited) with the remainder of the receptacle.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:

- 103, for a purse or handbag which is reversible without the dissociation of parts.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 116 for an article of hand luggage having a detachable handle.
- 383, Flexible Bags, subclass 13, for a flexible bag having a detachable handle, and subclass 111 for a multilayer flexible bag having a removable ply.

105 Cover:

This subclass is indented under subclass 104. Subject matter wherein the removable element is a layer of material which overlies substantially the entire receptacle exterior.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 383, Flexible Bags, subclass 111 for a multilayer flexible bag having a removable ply.

106 Combined:

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter in combination with structure whose proximate function does not contribute to the holding or carrying function of the purse or handbag.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:

- 112+, for a purse or handbag which has two or more compartments.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 102 for an article of hand luggage having means for securing an accessory.
- 362, Illumination, subclass 156 for a purse combined with a light, wherein the claim recites nominal receptacle structure or structure specialized to the illumination means or function.

107 With handle or carrying strap:

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes an element which is to be grasped by the hand or placed over part of the user's body in order to lift, carry or otherwise move it.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclasses 115+ for an article of hand luggage combined with a handle.
- 224, Package and Article Carriers, particularly subclasses 202+, 217-222, 229, 252, and 253 for wrist wallets, money belts, wallet holsters, and other body attached receptacles. This Class, 150, includes purses having a shoulder strap or hand grip.
- 383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 6+ for a flexible bag combined with a handle.

108 Adjustable:

This subclass is indented under subclass 107. Subject matter wherein the handle includes means for changing the length or configuration of that portion which is to be grasped by the hand or placed over part of the user's body.

109 Handle includes secondary receptacle:

This subclass is indented under subclass 107. Subject matter wherein (1) the handle, itself, forms a container or (2) a container (other than the purse) is secured to the handle.

110 Single:

This subclass is indented under subclass 107. Subject matter wherein the receptacle has only one handle.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 25+ for a flexible bag having a single handle element.

111 Plural:

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter comprising two or more independently usable receptacles.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:

- 113, for a purse or handbag having a removable compartment or compartment forming member.
- 115, for a purse or handbag having hinged mouth frame elements combined with an additional, nonremovable purse or handbag formed by an attached auxiliary frame element.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 108 for plural articles of hand luggage.
- 383, Flexible Bags, subclass 37 for plural flexible bags.

112 Compartmented:

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes means for forming two or more content holding sections.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclasses 109+ for compartmented article of hand luggage.
- 383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 38+ for a compartmented flexible bag.

113 Removable (detachable) compartment or compartment-forming member:

This subclass is indented under subclass 112. Subject matter wherein the means for forming the content-holding sections is either unattached or releasably secured to the receptacle so that it may be dissociated therefrom.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:

- 105, for a purse with a removable cover.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 110 for an article of hand luggage having a removable compartment or compartment-forming member.

114 Secondary compartment integral with purse overlapping closure flap:

This subclass is indented under subclass 112. Subject matter wherein the receptacle has an access opening which is closable by a piece of material which extends from one wall of the receptacle, across the access opening (when closed), and overlies a portion of the opposed receptacle wall, and an additional compartment is part of or attached to the piece of material.

- (1) Note. An “access opening” is an opening which is intended for the insertion or removal of contents into or out of the receptacle.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 84+ for a flexible bag having a closure flap and, in particular, subclasses 86+ for a bag having a reusable closure flap.

115 Compartment mouth-frames hinged along common axis:

This subclass is indented under subclass 112. Subject matter wherein at least two compartments have access openings surrounded by relatively rigid elements which are pivotally secured together, and the pivot axes of the compartment elements are the same.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:

- 111, for two or more independently usable purses or handbags.
120, for other purses or handbags having a hinged mouth frame.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclasses 121, 122, and 123 for articles of hand luggage having mouth frames.
383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 34+ for a flexible bag having hinged mouth stiffeners.

116 Including means permitting limited movement of an interior compartment between storage and loading positions:

This subclass is indented under subclass 112. Subject matter wherein a compartment normally stored inside the receptacle is attached to an element or mechanism which allows it to be moved from a storage to a loading/unloading position, and back, while still being attached to the receptacle.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:

- 111, for two or more independently usable purses.
113, for a purse or handbag having a removable compartment or compartment forming member.
115, for a compartment having a mouth frame attached along the pivot axis of an encompassing enclosure, which compartment may inherently move to a loading/unloading position when the enclosure is opened.

117 Independently closable compartment:

This subclass is indented under subclass 112. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes at least two closure members each of which can be used to open or close its associated compartment(s) without opening or closing the compartment that is associated with the other closure member.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 111 for an article of hand carried luggage having independently closable compartments.

118 With closure:

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes means for preventing insertion or removal of content through an access opening.

- (1) Note. An “accessing opening” is an opening which is intended for the insertion or removal of content into or out of the purse or handbag.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclasses 119+ for an item of hand luggage having fastening means.
383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 42+ for closures for flexible bags.

119 Lid type:

This subclass is indented under subclass 118. Subject matter wherein the access opening has an open mouth and the closure overlies and covers the open mouth.

120 Hinged mouth-frame elements:

This subclass is indented under subclass 118. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes two or more elongated relatively rigid elements (i.e., mouth-frames) pivotally secured together and extending along substantially the entire periphery of the receptacle access opening.

- (1) Note. A mouth-frame, per se, is proper for this and indented subclasses, if it is disclosed as being associated with a purse or handbag.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:

- 115, for a compartmented receptacle having mouth-frames hinged along a common axis.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclasses 121, 122, and 123 for articles of hand luggage having mouth frames.
383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 34+ for a mouth-frame, per se, or a mouth frame combined with a flexible bag.

121 Four or more hinged elements:

This subclass is indented under subclass 120. Subject matter wherein there are four or more relatively rigid mouth-frame elements articulated at four or more joints.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 383, Flexible Bags, subclass 34.1 for a bag having four or more hinged mouth stiffeners.

122 Six or more hinged elements:

This subclass is indented under subclass 121. Subject matter wherein there are six or more relatively rigid mouth-frame elements articulated at six or more joints.

123 Including means for releasably securing closed frame elements together:

This subclass is indented under subclass 120. Subject matter wherein the frame elements include structure which permits them to be selectively fastened together or separated from one another.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 121 for an article of hand luggage having a mouth frame and a fastener.

124 Including separate element for securing purse or handbag material to frame:

This subclass is indented under subclass 120. Subject matter wherein there is included initially unattached means for attaching the receptacle body to the frame elements.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks or Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 123 for an article of hand luggage having means to facilitate attachment of a mouth frame.

125 Insert for channeled frame element:

This subclass is indented under subclass 124. Subject matter wherein a frame element has a generally U-shaped or groove-like depression for the reception of an element to which the receptacle body is attached.

126 Channeled frame element:

This subclass is indented under subclass 120. Subject matter wherein the mouth-frame element has a substantially U-shaped lateral cross section.

127 Wall detail:

This subclass is indented under subclass 100. Subject matter wherein the receptacle wall includes a specified feature.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclasses 124+ for wall details of an article of hand luggage.
383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 105+ for wall details of flexible bags.

- 428, Stock Material or Miscellaneous Articles, appropriate subclasses and in particular, subclass 52 for stock fabric from which a purse may be made.
- 128 Specified seam structure:
This subclass is indented under subclass 127. Subject matter including details of a joint which connects two parts of the receptacle material.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 126 for an article of hand luggage having specified seam structure.
383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 107+ for a flexible bag having specified seam structure.
- 129 Multilayer or ply:
This subclass is indented under subclass 127. Subject matter wherein there is more than one layer of material over substantially the entire surface area of the receptacle.
- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:
103+, for a receptacle having multilayers and in which one of the layers is used to modify the external appearance of the receptacle.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 125 for an article of hand luggage having multiple layers or plies.
383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 109+ for a flexible bag having multiple layers or plies.
- 130 Reinforced:
This subclass is indented under subclass 127. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes means for strengthening it.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
383, Flexible Bags, subclass 119 for a reinforced flexible bag.
- 131 POCKET OR PURSE-CARRIED CONTAINER (E.G., WALLET, BILLFOLD, CARD OR COIN CONTAINER, ETC.):
This subclass is indented under the class definition. Subject matter comprising a receptacle which is of such a size that it can be carried in one's pocket or purse and is intended for the reception of relatively small personal items such as money, credit cards, driver's license, etc.
- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:
100+, for subject matter under the class definition of the purse or handbag type, or for a wallet combined with a purse.
132+, for a receptacle which is disclosed for carrying paper currency.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
24, Buckles, Buttons, Clasps etc., subclasses 3.1 and 243+ for a money clip or clasp, per se.
132, Toilet, subclasses 286+ for a receptacle claimed in combination with a toilet article, particularly subclass 312 for those having flexible receptacles.
206, Special Receptacle or Package, for a receptacle which includes claimed specific retainer structure for contents (e.g., subclasses 37.1+ and 38.1 for a key case), for a receptacle intended to be carried in the pocket of a user (e.g., subclass 39 for a postage stamp holder, and see subclasses 0.8+, 37+, 38+, and the notes thereunder), or for a receptacle which includes claimed contents (e.g., package); and not provided for elsewhere.
281, Books, Strips, and Leaves, for checkbooks, per se, and checkbooks with covers.
401, Coating Implements With Material Supply, subclasses 118+ for a kit including a supply of coating material and an applicator removable therefrom for independent application to work (e.g., compact having face powder and pad).

132 Paper money container (e.g., wallet, bill-fold):

This subclass is indented under subclass 131. Subject matter wherein the receptacle is intended to hold paper currency (e.g., a paper money bill).

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

24, Buckles, Buttons, Clasps, etc., subclasses 3.1 and 243+ and a money clip or clasp, per se.

133 With means to deter theft of contents (e.g., secret compartment):

This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes structure which precludes an unauthorized person from discovering or removing a content item.

101, for a purse or handbag having a secret compartment.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

383, Flexible Bags, subclass 5 for a flexible bag having means to indicate tampering.

134 Theft or loss resistant:

This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein means are provided to prevent or retard the receptacle from being separated from the person of a user.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:

102, for similar subject matter combined with a purse or handbag.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

24, Buckles, Buttons, Clasps, etc., subclass 3.1 for article retaining means, per se.
63, Jewellery, subclass 24 for means to prevent the loss of a watch from the pocket of a user.
224, Package and Article Carriers, particularly subclasses 202+, 217-222, 229, 252, and 253 for wrist wallets, money belts, wallet holsters, and other body attached receptacles.

135 With means for holding a pad of checks:

This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein the receptacle has means to secure a checkbook.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

281, Books, Strips, and Leaves, subclass 34 for a checkbook cover or checkbook, per se.

136 Combined with coin receiver:

This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes means for holding coins.

SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUBCLASS:

106, for a purse combined with a coin container.

150+, for a coin container, per se.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

206, Special Receptacle or Package, for a receptacle which includes claimed retainer structure for contents (e.g., subclasses 37.1+ and 38.1 for key case), for a receptacle intended to be carried in the pocket of a user (e.g., subclass 39 for a postage stamp holder, and see subclasses 0.8+, 37+, 38+, and the notes thereunder), or for a receptacle which includes claimed contents (e.g., package); and not provided elsewhere.

137 Including resilient or biased clip for retaining bills:

This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein resilient or spring biased structure is provided which aids in the securing of an item of paper money.

(1) Note. A mere pocket or compartment is not considered to be a retaining element. However, in the case of a folded, bill-holding panel having a flap or strap which overlies a bill for the purpose of keeping it in position, the flap or strap is considered to be a retaining element.

- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:
143, for a closure which retains receptacle contents.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
24, Buckles, Buttons, Clasps, etc., subclasses 3.1 and 243+ for a money clip or clasp, per se.
- 138 Including separable content-holding structure:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes a content-holding portion or compartment which is either unattached or releasably secured to the remainder of the receptacle.
- (1) Note. The separable compartment may be for holding content other than paper money.
- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:
147+, for a card container which is intended for releasable securement within a wallet or billfold.
148, for a card container having a removable compartment.
- 139 Including content-holding section movable relative to paper money compartment:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes a content-holding portion or section which is slidable or pivotable relative to a billholding section.
- (1) Note. The unfolding of the paper money holding (billholding) section of the wallet does not constitute relative movement.
- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:
116, for a purse or handbag having a interior compartment movable between storage and loading positions.
138, for a wallet or billfold having a relatively movable content-holding section which is separate or detachable from the remainder of the wallet or billfold.
- 140 Including means for separating two or more paper money bills from one another:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein at least one divider is provided which functions to set apart at least two pieces (bills) of the paper currency.
- 141 Including means permitting removal of paper money while folded:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein the receptacle structure includes a modification which makes it possible to withdraw a folded paper bill without first unfolding the paper bill.
- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:
138, for a wallet or billfold having a separable content holding section.
- 142 Including relatively slidable container wall sections to accommodate thicker contents or prevent buckling while folded:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein a wall of a paper money section of the receptacle includes portions which slide relative to each other to accommodate different thicknesses of contents or to prevent bulging or buckling when the receptacle is folded.
- 143 With closure:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes means to maintain the receptacle in a folded configuration or for preventing insertion or removal of a content item into or out of one or more compartments.
- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:
118+, for a closure for a purse or handbag.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 42+ for closures for flexible bags.
- 144 Including expandable pocket:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein a compartment of the receptacle has structure which permits enlargement of the compartment for accommodating bulky contents.

- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:
- 142, for a wallet or billfold having a paper money section which is expandable because of relatively slidable portions.
- 145 With transparent portion or window:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter wherein a part of the receptacle is cut away or is transparent to allow a portion of the contents to be seen.
- 146 Joint or seam structure:
This subclass is indented under subclass 132. Subject matter including details of a permanent connection between two parts of the receptacle.
- (1) Note. Two parts are considered to be “permanently connected” when they are not intended to be separated during normal use of the receptacle, even if the connecting elements are capable of being separated (e.g., tongue and slot).
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
- 190, Trunks and Hand-Carried Luggage, subclass 126 for an article of hand luggage having specified seam structure.
- 383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 107+ for a flexible bag having specified seam structure.
- 147 Card container (e.g., for credit or fare card, identification or driver's license, etc.):
This subclass is indented under subclass 131. Subject matter wherein the receptacle is intended to hold a flat, relatively stiff and usually small and rectangular piece of paper, thin paperboard, or plastic.
- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:
- 132+, for a wallet or billfold having a pocket for holding a card.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
- 40, Card, Picture, or Sign Exhibiting, subclass 124.2 for a card rack which includes compartments for displaying cards, but which is not intended to be carried in a purse or pocket.
- 206, Special Receptacle or Package, subclasses 37+ for similar subject matter combined with claimed specific content retainer structure.
- 148 Removable compartment:
This subclass is indented under subclass 147. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes a card-holding section which is releasably secured to the remainder of the receptacle.
- SEE OR SEARCH THIS CLASS, SUB-CLASS:
- 138, for a wallet or billfold combined with a removable card container.
- 149 With closure:
This subclass is indented under subclass 147. Subject matter wherein the receptacle includes an element which prevents insertion or removal of a card into or out of one or more compartments.
- 150 Coin container (i.e., for holding coins in bulk):
This subclass is indented under subclass 131. Subject matter wherein the receptacle is intended for holding coins.
- (1) Note. A receptacle for coins and an additional, diverse article, not provided for elsewhere, is included here.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
- 296, Land Vehicles: Bodies and Tops, subclass 95.1 for a windshield cover permanently mounted to a vehicle or claimed in combination with vehicle structure, subclasses 98 and 100.01-100.18 for a vehicle load cover, and subclasses 136.01-136.13 for a dust cover for a convertible top.
- 151 Having means permitting insertion of coin into closed container:
This subclass is indented under subclass 150. Subject matter wherein the coin receptacle has a closable access opening and additional structure through which a coin can be placed in the receptacle while the access opening is closed.

152 Flap-tape closure:

This subclass is indented under subclass 150. Subject matter wherein the receptacle has an access opening which is closable by a piece of material which extends from one side of the receptacle wall, across the access opening (when closed), and overlies a portion of the opposed receptacle wall.

- (1) Note. An “access opening” is an opening which is intended for the insertion or removal of contents into or out of the receptacle.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

383, Flexible Bags, subclasses 84+ for a flexible bag having a closure flap.

153 Flap forms support for display and selection of coins:

This subclass is indented under subclass 152. Subject matter wherein the piece of material (closure flap) includes means to temporarily restrain the coins in an exposed position which facilitates the viewing and/or removing of the coins.

154 PROTECTIVE COVER MADE OF FLACCID MATERIAL:

This subclass is indented under the class definition. Subject matter comprising supplementary material which is configured to cover and be supported by a specific type of article for the purpose of protecting it from its external environment, or protecting the environment from the article, and which is intended to be removed before the article is used.

- (1) Note. Most protective covers are classified in the same class as the article to be covered. See the “SEARCH CLASS”, notes below and particularly the Alphabetical Index following the notes, which contains an alphabetical listing of article covers.
- (2) Note. A protective cover for this class is configured into a particular two or three dimensional shape to cover all or part of a specific article. See the line notes to classes for Static Structures (e.g., Buildings), and Stock Material and Miscellaneous Articles, below, for covers which are not configured for a specific article.

- (3) Note. A protective cover for this class must be supported by the article it covers, and may remain with the article while the article is being transported. However, it must be removed before the article is used, and may not function to carry or support the article. See the line notes to classes for Tent, Canopy, Umbrella, or Cane; Package and Article Carriers; Flexible Bags; and Special Receptacle or Package.
- (4) Note. A protective cover is distinguished from a wrapper provided for in the class for Envelopes, Wrappers, and Paperboard Boxes, in that a wrapper is a single-use paper-type covering for a mercantile unit, and is intended to be discarded when removed.
- (5) Note. For an alphabetical index for Flacid Protective Covers (by article to be covered) see Lines With Other Classes and Within This Class, in the Class Definition of this class.

- 163 For a racquet:
This subclass is indented under subclass 154. Subject matter wherein the cover is for a hand-held implement having netting stretched across an open-frame head with attached handle and which is used for striking a ball in a game such as tennis.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
206, Special Receptacle or Package, subclass 315.1 for a container for, or a package containing a racquet.
473, Games Using Tangible Projectile, subclass 554 for a device which holds a tennis racquet and presses it to prevent warping.
- 164 For a sewing machine:
This subclass is indented under subclass 154. Subject matter wherein the cover is for a machine used for stitching material (e.g., cloth, leather, paper) and usually having a needle and shuttle to carry thread, and powered by a foot treadle or electricity.
- SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:
312, Supports: Cabinet Structure, subclasses 208.5, 208.6 for a structure of that class type having means for housing or supporting a sewing machine.
- 165 For an appliance (household or office):
This subclass is indented under subclass 154. Subject matter wherein the cover is for a mechanism, intended to be used in a home or business establishment, to enhance, sustain, or facilitate functions or operations therein.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 206, Special Receptacle or Package, subclass 320 for a container for, or a package containing a household or office appliance.
- 379, Telephonic Communications, subclasses 451+ for a protective cover for a telephone.

166 For a vehicle exterior:

This subclass is indented under subclass 154. Subject matter wherein the cover is for the outside of a mechanical conveyance used for transporting one or more persons.

SEE OR SEARCH CLASS:

- 114, Ships, subclass 361 for a protective cover for a boat.
